McGuire described the focus on the training to learn provide terms/definitions, to provide information on the history of racism and structural racism and the role of government to make changes.

Greenway members were asked to describe their experience with the training and offered the following thoughts:

- Appreciate the Town’s commitment to Race and Equity
- Participated in the advisory board training, liked the small group discussions and the opportunity to meet new people
- Appreciated the way the program opened with Native Americans
- Enjoyed hearing different perspectives
- There are no easy answers, but some ideas and solutions
- The GARE program had new and great material, particularly the PBS program
- Appreciate Carrboro’s effort on this initiative
- The GARE program was a good beginning point, but there is a lot of ground to cover, just a drop in the bucket

- The Council adopted One Orange Racial Equity Framework in January. One Orange is a Countywide approach to address race and equity. Town of Carrboro - File #: 22-37 \(legistar.com\)
- Members also talked about the REI training program and comparing the GARE training with the more intensive REI training. It was noted that the REI program provides the benefit of going back and revisiting the materials.
- Would like to do it again if offered
- Think of it as a journey
